

THANKS AGAIN

I sent bouquets for Mother's Day
For Father's Day, a shirt and a card
While it came from the heart
They all fell short
Of saying how special you both are
It wasn't 'til I was up and gone
Married with kids of my own
Doin' what mamas and daddys do
That I realized what I must have put you through

Chorus:

So thanks again for the love in the cradle
And all of the changes that kept me dry
Thanks again for the love at our table
And tanning my bottom when I told you a lie
For taking me fishing and flying my kite
And tucking me in, night after night
To my beautiful lifelong friends
Hey mom and daddy, thanks again

I'm still a young girl
At least I think I am
But I'm watching my own hair turn grey
And your call last Sunday
Brought to my mind
That I owe you a debt
I can never repay

So thanks again for worrying and waiting
When I started dating
On weekend nights
Thanks again for the help with my homework
And sitting up with me 'til I got it right
My dress for the prom, letting me tag along
But most all, Daddy, for marrying Mom.
To my beautiful lifelong friends
Hey mom and daddy, thanks again

To my beautiful lifelong friends
Hey Mom and Dad, thanks again
